Teacher profile Angela Barns

Our teacher this week is Angela Barns. She ¹..... a teacher but she doesn't work in a school.

'I teach young actors in the theatre in London. My job is called tutoring.

I work with children aged between nine and fourteen. They are all actors ²..... they are students, too! This week I have two children. They don't work before seven ³..... the morning or after seven in the evening.

The children don't have a regular school day. It starts at seven o'clock, when they get up and ⁴..... breakfast. They come to the theatre at 7.30 and work for four hours, then they have lunch. Then they study with me for three hours in the afternoon. They do their homework in the evening or in their breaks. Some child actors have extra lessons on Saturdays or Sundays.

I don't teach the children in a classroom. We use the dining room at the theatre.

What do I do on my first visit to Rome?

This is a question people always ask me. And my answer is, 'Don't worry!' There are lots of amazing things to see and do (and eat!) in Rome. You mustn't try to do them all in one visit. Plan each day of your stay carefully and see the things you like best.

Here are five things you can do in just one day:

- In ¹..... morning, have breakfast at a café. My favourite is Giolitti's. I always go there when I'm in Rome. They serve fantastic ice cream.
- Go and see the Pantheon. It's near Giolitti's, on Rotonda square. The building ²..... almost 2,000 years old!
- Please visit a museum. I know young people ³..... think museums are boring, but the ones in Rome are great. Go to the Borghese Museum. When you finish looking at the paintings, walk around the amazing gardens.
- Have lunch in a square. You must take the time to sit and watch people go by. ⁴..... favourite is Navona Square (Piazza Navona).
- Walk along the River Tevere. There are thirty-one bridges across the river. Take some photos and then go to a restaurant in the evening – there are lots next ⁵..... the river.

And don't forget: throw a coin in the Trevi Fountain. It means you can come back to Rome ... and see the things you missed the first time!

All about Pancake Day

A report for Thornton School by Louise Martin

Today we're celebrating Pancake Day. So what is almost everyone at doing after school this afternoon? Why do we do it? Let's ask my mum.

A

I'm mixing the ingredients for pancakes. I've got eggs, milk and flour in here. I'm mixing them all really well. I'm not cooking the pancakes now. I wait for half an hour first.

B

We make pancakes because it is the last Tuesday before Lent starts. Lent is a religious festival which happens every year. In Lent you don't eat things like eggs or butter. We are making pancakes because we want to finish the food in the house. In Lent people often don't eat the things they really like. So this year I'm not eating chocolate in Lent – that's forty days!

C

It's time to cook the pancakes now. Cooking is the difficult part! When you're cooking pancakes, you do one side and then you turn them over to cook the other side. You move the pan and throw the pancake in the air. It's called tossing the pancake. It doesn't always work! OK. Ready?

Three, two, one! ...

Yum! They're ready! I'm eating my pancakes with lemon juice and sugar. What about you?

- 3 the names of two books:

Chris Haas is from California in the USA. He was born in 1994. Chris's father was a basketball teacher, so Chris learned to play when he was very young.

When he was just nine years old, Chris had an idea which changed his life. He saw children who had problems playing basketball and he wanted to make a special basketball to help them. He painted big hands on a ball and called it the 'hands-on basketball'.

Chris entered the ball in a competition for inventions at his school. He didn't win the prize, but that didn't stop him. His dad helped him to take his special ball to a big sports company. They bought the idea and they made the basketball. Now you can buy the 'hands on basketball' all over the world. Chris became famous because he was in a book called Kids Inventing. The book was about young people who make things.

Chris used the money from his invention to pay for himself and his brother and sister to study at university. He also started to help other young people with their projects.

Chris had another idea for a 'hands-on football' to help children learn to play American football. He also wrote a book about his experiences: Shooting for Your Dreams. The book tells the amazing story of how a small idea can help thousands of children every day.

TWO WEEKS UNTIL THE HOLIDAYS!

What are you going to do for Christmas this year?

Joe

I'm very excited because I'm going to visit London for the first time with my parents and my two sisters. We're going to see all the famous places –the London Eye, Piccadilly Circus and, of course, Buckingham Palace. I might see the Queen! My sisters are studying Ancient Egypt at school, so we're going to visit the British Museum and see the mummies.

We're going to see the Christmas lights on Oxford Street and do some shopping. I can't wait!

London sounds fantastic! I'm not going to be in a big city at Christmas. I'm going to stay in a small town in the mountains in Switzerland and I'm going to ski or snowboard every day. We went to the same place last year, so I'm already good at skiing.

The place is really beautiful. There aren't any cars and during the day it's very quiet. In the evenings, if we aren't too tired, we're going to go dancing or listen to live music in the town. I've got a new snowboard to try. It's going to be amazing!

Patricia

Max

For the first week of the holidays I'm going to stay with my aunt, uncle and cousins. My parents have to work, so my older brother and I are travelling together without them, on the train. My uncle is going to meet us at the station.

We always have a lot of fun with my cousins. They live in a small town in the countryside, so we all go cycling or walking together. We usually play football matches on my cousin's computer in the evening. This Christmas he's going to get a new game. We're always so noisy, it's like a real football competition!

My parents are going to arrive on the twenty-third and then we're going to have a big family party on Christmas Eve.

Pirate Parrot is a funny book. It's about a Spanish boy and his pet parrot. The main character, Pablo, thinks that he is a pirate but his parrot doesn't like water. It's a very good story and I laughed a lot when I read it. The writer is a man called Hector Martinez. He worked in a pet shop and that's when he had the idea and he wrote the book. Read it today! You're going to love it, too.

I saw an interesting programme last night on TV. It was about the life of a famous Russian dancer. The story started when she was a young child in a village. When she was eleven she won a competition and then she went to study ballet in Saint Petersburg. It was difficult for her when she arrived in the big city but she worked hard and became famous. I enjoyed the programme because I love dancing.

On Saturday I went to a concert with my family. The group was called Four Stars. Before the concert I thought they were great but they arrived late and they didn't sing well. They couldn't dance, so the concert was boring. We didn't have a good time. We stayed for an hour and then we went home.

On Sunday I saw ¹ amazing TV programme. It was called Explore Australia and it was about animals and birds in Australia. We learnt a little about Australia ² school last year, but I didn't know there were so many interesting animals. There ³ some animals you can't see in any other country in ⁴ world! The presenter took a trip into the desert and she saw camels and red kangaroos there. Then she ⁵ with sharks in the ocean. I thought it was a really interesting programme.
